250th Anniversary Leaders: Carroll, Lonsdorf

Co-directors of Penn's 250th birthday celebration will be Mary Carroll, a director of the William Penn Foundation and many Philadelphia civic groups, and Alice B. Lonsdorf, former assistant dean of the Law School and a leader of numerous civic organizations as well.

President Emeritus Martin Meyerson, who co-chairs with Trustee Paul F. Miller Jr. the commission planning the 1990 celebration, said planning "shifts into high gear" with the selection of the two women leaders. With President Sheldon Hackney and Trustees' Chairman Alvin Shoemaker as honorary chairs, the commission has outlined a year-long program that will peak with a week's events following the 1990 May Commencement. In addition to academic and scholarly celebrations there will be parades, theatre performances, exhibits, concerts and other events for alumni, students, faculty and staff.

"The anniversary programs are being developed with the Schools and in collaboration with leading cultural and professional institutions in Philadelphia," Mr. Meyerson said. "Mary Carroll and Alice Lonsdorf bring a wealth of experience in community organization to the Commission.

Mrs. Lonsdorf, who is married to Dr. Richard G. Lonsdorf, professor of psychiatry and law, served as assistant dean for alumni affairs from 1980 to 1986, and Mrs. Carroll's husband is a 1973 Penn alumnus.

Mrs. Carroll is a partner of the Urban Affairs Partnership, chair of the Friends of Independence National Historical Park, and a founder and former chair of the National Parks Mid-Atlantic Council and of Hospitality Philadelphia Style (which promotes economic development through tourism). She is the author of A Walking Tour of Independence National Historical Park.

Mrs. Lonsdorf, who was named a Distinguished Daughter of Pennsylvania by Governor Thornburgh in 1980, is a founder, former chair and current board member of the Friends of Independence National Historical Park. She also initiated and chaired the Philadelphia Open House and is a past president of the Cosmopolitan Club. She is on the executive committee of the Penn's Landing Corporation.

The Year-End Fling

Over 3000 faculty and students will march capped and gloved down Locust Walk on Monday, May 16 in the annual Academic Procession for Commencement, ending up at Franklin Field for the conferring of nine honorary degrees and over 3350 degrees in course. Led by four Scottish pipers, the parade assemblies at Superblock at 8:45 a.m. and arrives at the Field by 10 a.m. In case of rain, the parade will be cancelled but Commencement will go on as scheduled. The rain signal will be flying College Hall's flag at half-mast.

Two Fraternity Probations

Dr. Kim Morrison, Acting Vice Provost for University Life, issued Friday the Decision and Findings in two cases where the Fraternity/Sorority Advisory Board found violations involving strippers at rush parties.

Both fraternities — Phi Delta Theta and Phi Gamma Delta — have been placed on probation until the end of the spring semester 1989. Each will be required to hold educational programs on sexism and diversity for the next four years; submit future rush plans for approval; and ensure alumni attendance at Interfraternity Alumni Council meetings during probation and thereafter. Full text of the Decision and Findings will be published next week.

Council Elections

In its year-end meeting April 27 the University Council elected to the Steering Committee for 1988-89 four faculty members — Dr. Marten Estey, Dr. Larry Gross, Dr. Madeleine Joullie and Dr. John Roberts — along with UA's Emuata Bassey (C'91) and GAPSA's William Westerman (SAS).

The election of Vincent Phaahla of GSFA as incoming Chair of GAPSA — and the first international student to hold the post — was announced.

President Sheldon Hackney summarized the year: "in a short version of his Senate address (to be published May 10), and Provost Michael Aiken gave a status report on key searches in progress:

• Decisions are "very close" for Deans of the Arts and Sciences and the Annenberg School;
• The VPUL search will probably end in the summer; and
• Searches for Deans in Medicine and Dental Medicine will continue until fall.

During the Q and A period, debate occurred on the floor concerning the Wharton School's training program in January for Black South African managers.

Discussion also followed a resolution of GSAC, transmitted by GAPSA's Wayne Glasser, which calls upon Council to create a Task Force on fraternities' impact on nonfraternity populations, to include representatives of employee assemblies as well as groups representing minorities, women, fraternities and others.

An undergraduate objected to a graduate student organization's commenting on the fraternity system, on the ground that it is an undergraduate matter, and Dr. Michael Cohen ques-

Open Expression Guidelines

In the April 26 issue, Almanac incorrectly labeled as being “Of Record” a text of the Open Expression Guidelines which incorporated revisions adopted by Council on April 13.

President Sheldon Hackney has extended an invitation for further comment on the motion before a decision is made. Comment may be sent to him at 100 College Hall.

Following are the present language and the revision proposed to Council by the Committee on Open Expression:

III.B. (Current Policy):

3. Individuals or groups violate these Guidelines if they continue to engage in conduct after the Vice Provost for University Life or delegate has declared that the conduct is in violation of the Guidelines and has instructed the participants to modify or terminate their behavior. Prompt compliance with the instructions shall be a mitigating factor in any disciplinary proceedings based upon the immediate conduct to which the instructions refer, unless the violators are found to have demonstrated willfully in an impermissible location.

III.B. (Revision Adopted at Council 4/13/88)

3. a. Individuals or groups violate these Guidelines if they continue to engage in conduct after the Vice Provost for University Life or delegate has declared that the conduct is in violation of the Guidelines and has instructed the participants to modify or terminate their behavior. Prompt compliance with the instructions shall be a mitigating factor in any disciplinary proceedings based upon the immediate conduct to which the instructions refer, unless the violators are found to have caused or intended to cause injury to person or property or to have demonstrated willfully in an impermissible location.

b. If the individuals or groups refuse to comply with the Vice Provost’s or delegate’s order, they may challenge the appropriateness of the order to the judicial system. If the judiciary finds that the conduct was protected by the Guidelines, all charges shall be dismissed.

c. Individuals or groups complying with the Vice Provost’s or delegate’s order may request that the Committee on Open Expression determine if the Guidelines were properly interpreted and applied to their conduct.

As a housekeeping change the adoption of the new version would add to V.C. The Vice Provost or delegate is responsible for enforcing paragraph III.B. and may instruct anyone whose behavior is violating or threatens to violate these Guidelines to modify or terminate such behavior; and would delete from V.C. in the current policy a line reading: The instruction shall include notice that failure or refusal to comply is, itself, a violation of III.B. of these Guidelines.

* The text of the policy now in effect is that published For Comment in Almanac November 24, 1987, and declared to be “Of Record” in a notice published January 26, 1988. —Ed.

FOR COMMENT

On Faculty Salaries

Speaking Out

If Faculty Senate Chairman Gerard Adams doesn’t “think anybody is angry” (as reported in the Daily Pennsylvanian, April 20, 1988) about the level of faculty salary increases recently announced, then his opinion simply does not reflect that of the faculty I know. Of course the administration is “very pleased” with the salary guidelines, but to “faculty leaders” are also pleased, then it would seem to be time for a change to faculty leaders who are not happy to blandly accept what administration does out.

—William C. Lawrence, professor of microbiology

Faculty Club Annual Meeting

All members of the Faculty Club are invited to the Annual Meeting Wednesday, May 4, at 4 p.m. in the Club. Dr. Edward Shils, president of the Board of Governors, will outline the Club’s future, and give details of renovation projects affecting the summer schedule.

1989-90 Competition for Fulbright Scholar Awards

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars has announced the opening of competition for 1989-90 Fulbright grants in research and university lecturing abroad.

The awards for 1989-90 include more than 300 grants in research and 700 grants in university lecturing for periods ranging from three months to a full academic year. There are openings in over 100 countries and, in many regions, the opportunity exists for multi-country research. Fulbright awards are granted in virtually all disciplines, and scholars in all academic ranks are eligible to apply. Applications are especially encouraged from retired faculty and independent scholars.

Grant benefits vary widely by country, and applicants are encouraged to check application packets for more precise information.

Applications: Miriam Stevenson, Ext. 8-7236.

Applications are especially encouraged from retired faculty and independent scholars.

Grant benefits vary widely by country, and applicants are encouraged to check application packets for more precise information.

The basic eligibility requirements for a Fulbright award are U.S. citizenship; Ph.D. or comparable professional qualifications; university or college teaching experience; and, for selected assignments, proficiency in a foreign language. It should be noted that there is no limit on the number of Fulbright grants a single scholar can hold, but there must be a three-year interval between awards.

Application deadlines for the awards are:

- June 15, 1988: Australia, India, and Latin America, except lecturing awards to Mexico, Venezuela, and the Caribbean;
- September 15, 1988: Africa, Asia, Europe, the Middle East, and lecturing awards to Mexico, Venezuela, and the Caribbean;
- November 1, 1988: Institutional proposals for Scholar-in-Residence Program;
- January 1, 1989: International Education Administrators Program in Federal Republic of Germany, United Kingdom, and Japan; Seminar in German Civilization; NATO Research Fellowships and Spain Research Fellowships;

unched the principle of putting on task forces the representatives of interested groups. Mr. Glasker also suggested applying a precedent in the Alpha Chi Rho decision—the $5223.52 payment to cover the cost of replacing a tree— to human victims, with fines payable to individual victims or to student organizations or University offices involved in victim support and training on conduct.

UA’s Chair Keith Wasserstrom entered an Assembly statement protesting a rumored proposal to move the VPUl from College Hall to Houston Hall.
HONORS & . . . Other Things

Awards
Dr. Arthur K. Ashby, Van Meter Professor of Neurology at the School of Medicine, has been selected by the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine to receive the Daniel Drake Award, based on “unique or outstanding contributions to the field of medicine.” He will receive the award June 11 at an Honors Day ceremony held by the college from which he took his medical degree in 1958.

Dr. Nancy E. Cooke, assistant professor of medicine and human genetics at the School of Medicine, has been awarded the Mereck Faculty Development Grant. The Merck Sharp & Dohme Research Laboratories extend these awards to “promising young researchers in high quality research environments.”

Dr. Ruth Patrick, adjunct professor of biology and a pioneer in the biological measurement and control of water pollution, is the recipient of the first Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Governor’s Award of Excellence in the Sciences. Governor Robert P. Casey established the awards program last year to “honor outstanding individual creativity and achievement and to focus attention upon the importance of the arts, humanities and sciences in society.” The governor will formally present the awards at a ceremony in Harrisburg on May 3.

Dr. Patrick’s work on the diversity of species of aquatic animals, as indicators of water quality, is considered her most important contribution to science and the basis of her fifty-year association with the Academy of Natural Sciences.

Dr. David Premack, professor of psychology, has been awarded the Fysen Foundation Prize which is given annually for research in neurosciences, cognition, and prehistory. The prize, along with a monetary award, was awarded this month in Paris.

Robert Schoenberg, assistant director of Student Life Programs and a social worker in the University Counseling Service, has been named 1988 Social Worker of the Year by the Philadelphia and Brandywine Divisions of the National Association of Social Workers. He was recognized “particularly for work related to AIDS.” The award was given out at a luncheon session during a conference sponsored by the Philadelphia and Brandywine divisions of NASW March 25.

NEH Grants
John McCoubrey, professor of art history; Dr. Peter Conn, professor and graduate chair of English; Dr. Irma Lustig, research associate and adjunct professor of English, and Dr. Alfred Rieber, professor and chair of history, have received grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities to direct summer 1988 seminars for secondary school and college teachers. Dr. McCoubrey’s seminar is Paintings As Texts: Representation and Its Determinants. Dr. Conn will focus on the American 1930s: Art and Politics in the Depression. Autobiographical writing and biography as exemplified by James Boswell in Life of Johnson will be the focus of Dr. Lustig’s seminar. Dr. Rieber will teach “Russia and Its Borderlands.” Their NEH Grants total $285,000.

For Deans
Dean George Gerber, of the Annenberg School of Communications, has been honored by President Sheldon Hackney and Provost Michael Aiken who have established an Annual Lecture Series to be known as the George Gerber Lecture in Communications. It will be given by an Annenberg School alumnus. The first lecture was given earlier this month.

Dean Russell E. Palmer, the Reliance Professor of Private Enterprise at the Wharton School, has been honored by Touche Ross which has established a professorship in management to honor the Dean who served for ten years as the accounting and management consulting firm’s managing partner before joining Wharton.

Elections and Appointment
President Sheldon Hackney, and Dr. Thomas Langfitt, former vice president for health affairs, were recently elected to the American Philosophical Society.

Dr. Henry Hoenigswald, emeritus professor of linguistics, has been elected to the National Academy of Sciences.

Annual Savings Bond Drive: May 1 to July 29

The University’s annual U.S. Savings Bond Fund Drive opens May 1 this year and continues until July.

As we have noted in the past, this is a market-based variable rate Series “EE” Savings Bond that is described in detail in the pamphlet you will receive by intramural mail. The current rate is a most attractive 7.17%, which compares very favorably with similar securities, and which has attracted unusually large interest among savers. Remember, should market rates rise, Savings Bond interest keeps pace; on the other hand, if rates drop, your bonds have the added protection of a guaranteed minimum return of 6% when held at least five years.

Through the payroll savings plan, an amount you specify is automatically set aside from each paycheck towards purchase of a bond. Interest is exempt from state and local income taxes, and federal taxes may be deferred until the bonds are cashed or reach maturity.

In order to join the program, all you need do is fill out the card enclosed in the pamphlet and return it to the Payroll Department, 3rd floor, Franklin Building, 6284. Should you have any questions regarding payroll procedures call Debbie Miller, Payroll Department, Ext 8-1443. Questions involving the Savings Bonds themselves should be directed to the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia (Savings Bond Section) at 574-6176, Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Safety Tip: Get to know the people who live around you and allow them to know you. Don’t become a loner because the criminal element preys on loners. You can accomplish this by greeting others and being as friendly as possible. People are more likely to lookout for interests of those they know and like.
