May at Penn

Great Gardens of the Philadelphia Region
Now on display in the Upper Pavilion is a photographic exhibition by Robert Cardillo featuring some of the most beautiful public and private gardens of the northern hemisphere. From the majestic estates of Delaware, to the vital community gardens of Center City, to the private gardens of Philadelphia and its surrounding towns, subplots and community gardens are enhanced. A Horticultural Tour of the United States.

May 3 – 20

Nick Kelsh: Roots, Shoots and Leaves (Left Open)
Galeria Arte 20, 1 p.m. - 5 p.m.
Nick Kelsh, known for his photos of the North Philadelphia neighborhood, will be exhibiting his latest work. Using close-up, abstract patterns and motifs, the viewer will appreciate the beauty of the ordinary.