TALKS

"Our lives begin to end the day we become silent about things that matter." -Martin Luther King, Jr.

PLP The Unity Project: revive and create new visions of cultural unity and community. Thursday, March 19, 7:30 p.m., Greenfield Intercultural Center.

"The Civil Rights Movement brings fresh insights to King's difficult story. It has provided a narrative that has obscured King's story to reconcile the rules of sociology, but has also brought a new understanding of the human spirit," says writer Will Smith, who will perform at the Rotunda on January 22 as part of the The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Commemorative Symposium on Social Change. The group honors the human spirit through dance, music, poetry, and art. To celebrate the 75th birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., the group has come together to create a symposium. The event will include a performance by the Edwardsville Community Choir and a dance by Robb Shaw, University of Alabama, Birmingham. The symposium will take place on January 22 at 9:30 a.m. in the rotunda of Houston Hall. The event will be open to the public.

Dorothy K. Butler, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will speak on "The Impact of dee the 20th Century" at 9:30 a.m. in the rotunda of Houston Hall. The event will be open to the public.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Symposium on Social Change: Exploration of the Lessons of African American History. Thursday, March 19, 7:30 p.m., Greenfield Intercultural Center.
