ENAC’s “The Electronic Numerical Integrator and Computer,” as it stood in its infancy, a century ago, along with its principal inventor, J. Presper Eckert and John W. Mauchly in the foreground. The ENAC 50th Celebration: The Birth of the Modern Computer is being held in the Informatics Library on Saturday, November 27. At 10 a.m. on February 14, the John Mauchly Papers Exhibition and program will open in Van Pelt-Dietrich Library. The exhibition is free and open to the general public. For more information, contact Dr. John Martin, ENAC 50th Celebration, 898-4015. February 14-20 will mark the 50th anniversary of ENAC’s founding, and an overview of the evolution of the computer is being developed. Equipment and information technology on display will be arranged in the Informatics Library. A fantastic opportunity for hands-on interactive student and faculty led demonstrations of new educational technologies being developed at Penn. Each day occurs at 6:30 p.m. and consists of an event that is free and open to the general public. For more information, contact Dr. John Martin, ENAC 50th Celebration, 898-4015.
