4th Grade and Centers: The 154th National Conference of the Association for American Studies includes workshops, career fairs, movies, and dinners in addition to a career fair and exhibits, on-site registration (at the airport), career clubs, and authentication. (For more information, visit www.aasl.org) Sunday, April 11, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday, April 12, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday, April 13, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Tuesday, April 14, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Wednesday, April 15, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Thursday, April 16, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Friday, April 17, 1999, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. CEW/AFS 1st Floor—Alumni Room (215) 898-4180; admissions@cew.upenn.edu

돌러ccording to the New York Times, the mysterious disappearance behind a series of baffling objects in a music shop has led to a sensational discovery of human remains at the bottom of the shop. The remains, believed to be those of a 19th-century composer, were found during the excavation of the shop's basement, along with a cache of rare music manuscripts and a letter written in Latin. The discovery has sparked renewed interest in the composer's life and work, and has led to a series of events that are expected to generate significant media interest.

The conference, which is attended by more than 10,000 delegates from around the country, includes sessions on a wide range of topics, from the history of the Americas to the role of universities in the global economy. The keynote address will be given by Dr. Maya Angelou, who will discuss her life and work in the field of African American women's studies. Other notable speakers include Dr. James变迁, Dr. Henry Louis Gates Jr., and Dr. David Brion Davis.

On April 20, the conference will conclude with a farewell dinner at the downtown Philadelphia Sheraton Hotel, followed by a reception at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

For more information, please visit the conference website at www.aasl.org or call (215) 898-4180.

WHAT TO DO IN PHILADELPHIA

1. Two Views of Venice: Etchings by Canaletto and Mangin, Philadelphia Museum of Art

2. The Art of Making Baby Dolls: A History and an Exhibition of Children's Work, Philadelphia Art Museum

4. The Penn Bookstore is closed on April 4 and 5, 2015, due to a major renovation of the facility. The store will reopen on April 6.

5. The Philadelphia Orchestra will perform at Lincoln Center on April 7, 2015, under the direction of music director Yannick Nézet-Séguin. The program will feature works by Beethoven, Mozart, and Shostakovich.

6. The University of Pennsylvania will hold its annual Spring Weekend Celebration on April 8 and 9, 2015. The event will feature music, dance, art, and food, and will be open to the public.

7. The Philadelphia Museum of Art will present its annual Spring Gala on April 10, 2015. The event will feature live music, food, and drinks, and will benefit the museum's education and outreach programs.

8. The Philadelphia Art Alliance will host its annual Spring Auction on April 11, 2015. The auction will feature works by local artists, and all proceeds will go to support the alliance's programs.

9. The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra will perform at the Kimmel Center on April 12, 2015, under the direction of music director Yannick Nézet-Séguin. The program will feature works by Mozart, Beethoven, and Brahms.

10. The University of Pennsylvania will hold its annual Spring Weekend Celebration on April 11 and 12, 2015. The event will feature music, dance, art, and food, and will be open to the public.

11. The Philadelphia Museum of Art will present its annual Spring Gala on April 13, 2015. The event will feature live music, food, and drinks, and will benefit the museum's education and outreach programs.

12. The Philadelphia Art Alliance will host its annual Spring Auction on April 14, 2015. The auction will feature works by local artists, and all proceeds will go to support the alliance's programs.

13. The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra will perform at the Kimmel Center on April 15, 2015, under the direction of music director Yannick Nézet-Séguin. The program will feature works by Mozart, Beethoven, and Brahms.